Wheat prospects show no material difference from that reported one month ago. The state average is now estimated at 102 per cent, or about 15 1-3 bushels per acre. One year ago, to date, the prospect was estimated at 94 per cent. The harvest produced less than 28,000,000 bushels. The present acreage is less than that harvested in 1913. The total production should equal, but it is doubtful, whether it will exceed, the production of last year.

John Beck, who has been spending his vacation with a former classmate in West Virginia, returned Wednesday and is regaling his friends with an account of the many interesting and instructive experiences he enjoyed while away. Mr. Beck spent much of his time in the mining district of Clay, W. Va., and was impressed by the sobriety and industriousness of the miners in that region. "But," says John, "the condition of the poor mountaineers there is the same as elsewhere, and it seems inconceivable that human beings actually live in such hovels and squalor." The miners seem prosperous and happy.
